

📣 Dear science enthusiasts 📣

Did you hear that registrations are open for the CERN-Solvay student camp?

For an entire week, participants will have the exciting opportunity to do hands-on experiments, visit research facilities at CERN, attend lectures and Q&A sessions, explore STEM careers, and take part in social activities. All participants will work in small groups on dedicated research projects, guided by scientists at CERN.

Launched by CERN with the Solvay Group, this programme is designed for high-school students 16+ years old who want to go beyond high-school physics and learn more about CERN, physics and technology.

📅 Two camps in 2024: May and October.

📅 Application period: 1 December 2023 to 15 January 2024 (at 11:59 PM CET).
